SENT VIA EMAIL

Dear Mr. President:

Under the provisions of Section 501(a) of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 U.S.C. Sections 5121-5207 (Stafford Act), and implemented by 44 CFR Section 206.35, I request that you declare an emergency for the State of Louisiana effective July 10, 2019, as a result of Tropical Storm Barry. The National Weather Service forecasts that Tropical Storm Barry will make landfall in Louisiana by Saturday, July 13, 2019. The impact of torrential rainfall, storm surge, high winds, and potential tornadoes will pose a serious threat to the lives and property of the citizens of Louisiana.

In response to this situation, I have taken the appropriate action under state law and declared a statewide emergency (111 JBE 2019) on July 10, 2019. Furthermore, I have directed the execution of the State Emergency Operations Plan in support of the statewide emergency declaration in accordance with Section 501 of the Stafford Act. A copy of that declaration is attached.

According to the National Weather Service (NWS), Tropical Storm Barry has a high chance (90%) of developing into a hurricane in the next 48 to 72 hours. The NWS anticipates a threat of heavy rainfall across south Louisiana, as much as 10 to 15 inches, with potential for life-threatening flash flooding starting July 12, 2019. Such rainfall would overwhelm drainage systems, causing significant property damage. Although we are not sure of the exact track or strength of this tropical storm, the NWS anticipates that it will be a slow moving storm with rain bands that will bring heavy rain throughout the weekend and into next week. Further, a Hurricane Watch has been issued for much of the Louisiana coast. Tropical storm force winds are anticipated in the coastal areas as early as 8:00 p.m. on July 11, 2019. I am confident that there will be widespread, heavy rainfall and coastal flooding.

In addition to the threat of heavy rainfall, the NWS anticipates a storm surge of 3 to 4 feet near the mouth of the Mississippi River, from the New Orleans area southward. There are already flash flooding and tornado warnings in New Orleans. Further, if there is a change in track or intensity, there could be a threat of overtopping of the Mississippi River levees in some locations. Given these threats, I anticipate the need for emergency protective measures, evacuations, and sheltering for the affected areas. The length of possible inundation is unknown and will likely require de-watering activities. In anticipation of these threats to life and property, Plaquemines Parish has issued a mandatory evacuation of the most vulnerable areas effective 6:00 a.m. on July 11, 2019. The evacuation includes a nursing home with requisite special transportation considerations. This evacuation also involves activating a sheltering agreement with Ouachita Parish in northern Louisiana. Additional evacuations may be required based upon subsequent NWS forecasts.

Over the past 24 hours, 28 parishes have issued parish emergency declarations, 14 parishes are in the process of completing their emergency declarations, and more are anticipated over the next 24 to 48 hours.

As noted in my July 3, 2019 letter to you, Louisiana has responded to several severe weather events, including multiple iterations of severe weather, flash flooding, heavy rain, and tornadic activity since May of 2019. This, coupled with the duration of these events and the ongoing spring flood fight, has overwhelmed both state and local capabilities and resources. The Mississippi River has remained above flood stage for the longest period in Louisiana history. The Louisiana Governor's Office of Homeland Security and Emergency Preparedness (GOHSEP) has incurred more than $1.1 million in costs associated with the aforementioned flood fighting. The placement of the Bayou Chene barge alone has resulted in costs in excess of $6 million. We are still compiling the costs incurred by the parishes and other state agencies involved in flood fighting, but at this time we estimate those costs will exceed $4 million. The addition of the anticipated response needed to adequately prepare and respond to Tropical Storm Barry will overwhelm the capability of state resources.

Furthermore, it is necessary that critical pre-positioning and other readiness requirements be provided through federal assistance. As will be detailed later, I request that federal resources be activated to assist with the evaluation of the incident and sheltering operations.

The following information is furnished on the nature and amount of state and local resources that have been or will be used to alleviate the conditions of this emergency:

GOHSEP

- Has activated its EOC to Level 1 as of 7/11/19, and is coordinating response measures across the state.

Louisiana Army National Guard (LANG)

- Staging high water vehicles in areas that will most likely need rescues from high waters.
- Flood protection efforts and protective measures.

Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority (CPRA)

- Monitoring 163 floodgates along the Mississippi River. There are 588 gates along coastal Louisiana, in conjunction with various levee districts, and closures are anticipated over the next few days.
- The Bayou Chene barge that was previously emplaced in St. Mary Parish has significantly improved drainage in that area, and also positively impacts the parishes of Assumption, lower St. Martin, Iberville, and Terrebonne.

Evacuation/Sheltering - Although no shelters have been opened at this time, the following shelters are ready if needed:

- Grand Isle is under a mandatory evacuation.
- Louisiana Department of Children and Family Services is preparing to open the mega shelter in Alexandria. Louisiana Department of Health is also preparing a medical special needs shelter in the same building.
- Plaquemines Parish has executed a sheltering agreement with Ouachita Parish for its evacuees.
- New Orleans has a recreational center in every council district and the public schools as a backup.
- Terrebonne and Lafourche parishes are planning to shelter-in-parish.

Louisiana Department of Health (LDH) – LDH is staffing its Technical Operations Center (TOC) as of 7/11/19.

- Cemetery Response Task Force preparing for cemetery disruptions.
- All critical healthcare facilities are on alert.
- Numerous hospitals in the New Orleans area have reported access issues due to high water.
- One hospital in Region 9 has reported a power outage.
- One nursing home in Belle Chase is evacuating more critical residents on 7/11/19.
